By plane

From Düsseldorf Airport, take a taxi to the Max Planck Institute for Sustainable Materials, which is located at the intersection of Sohnstraße and Max-Planck-Straße (about 20 minutes, 10 km). Or take the S11 to the main station. From there, the Bus 834 to Oberkassel will take you within ca. 12 minutes to the Sohnstraße. The institute is 100 m ahead on the right side.

By train

Travel to Düsseldorf Central Station (Düsseldorf Hauptbahnhof). In front of the station building, take the no. 834 bus heading to Oberkassel and get out at Sohnstraße (buy a ticket from the driver or online). The institute lies 100 m ahead on the right side.

By car

Coming from the east/south/north of Düsseldorf: On the A3 Autobahn take the exit Düsseldorf/Mettmann. Drive along the B7 to Düsseldorf. Leave the B7 at Stauffenplatz and follow the Grafenberger Allee. After ca. 1 km turn right into the Sohnstraße. The institute is about 500 m ahead on the right side.

Coming from the west of Düsseldorf: At the Kaarst intersection of the A52 and A57 Autobahn, take the A52 to Düsseldorf, and continue along the B7 and the Theodor-Heuss-bridge. After about 4 km, turn right into Graf-Recke-Straße. After 300 m (at the traffic light) turn left into Fritz-Wüst-Straße, and drive about 300 m to reach the institute on the left.
